Funeral Of Late George Edward Ross

A large crowd of friends and sympathizers gathered at St. Andrew's (Pres.) church on Thursday last for the funeral services of the late George Edward Ross.

Mr. Ross, who was born at Holly, Ontario, and who was 40 years of age, came to Wainwright with his parents 32 years ago, and has resided on the farm (where the big barn fire so reported last week caused his death) ever since that time.

His parents pre-deceased him some years since. He was married in July 1936, to Miss Susan Klassen, who is left to mourn the loss of a loving husband.

The Rev. Dr. R. Stevens conducted the funeral service, and in his discourse spoke feelingly of the life of the deceased, and the great loss his death had caused in his community.

Several hymns were sung by the congregation, which crowded the church. The pallbearers were Messrs. J. McClelland, H. Driver, O. Pascoe, A. Muddle, C. McClelland and F. Munter.

Interment was made at Wainwright cemetery. McLeod's parlors having charge of the arrangements.

Big Night Expected At Board of Trade

Tonight (Wednesday) should see a record crowd in attendance at the monthly dinner of the Board of Trade which is being held at the Wainwright hotel at 7 p.m. sharp.

Mr. Walter Campbell, regional director of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, of Edmonton, is to be the principal speaker, and other distinguished gentlemen from the city are expected to be here for the occasion. All interested are invited to be present.

The executive of the Board are hoping to see a number of ladies present at this meeting, too.

Wainwright Sea Cadets New Local Feature

About 60 young boys paraded last Friday night as the first unit of the newly-formed Wainwright Sea Cadets under command of Dr. M. DuMont, and we understand that this gentleman has been recently recommended for the position of executive officer of the corps here.

With Dr. DuMont was Mr. H. J. Ordway, who served with the Royal Navy in the last war, and who we learn is being appointed as naval instructor.

In addition, a commanding officer for the corps is to be appointed at a later date.

Wainwright Developments Down Over 1,000 Ft.

Work is progressing by leaps and bounds on the drilling of the No. 1 well for General Petroleum, with the result that already the bit is down well over 1,000 feet, and the crew are preparing to take cores of the strata through which it is passing.

With the three 8-hour shifts going steadily, it is expected that the well will be made in record time, and that Lou McCulloch, who is in charge will very shortly be reporting the oil sands another well producing in this field.

Penalties Listed For Exceeding Speed Limit

Alberta car owners will be "stepping on it" a little easier since Friday—and for the rest of the war. The federal order prohibiting speeds in excess of 40 miles an hour goes into effect then.

The order is not required in provinces now having speed limits of 40 miles an hour or less. It applies to Alberta, which has no speed limit, in miles-an-hour but which requires that motorists shall not drive at an unreasonable rate of speed.

The new federal order is designed to save fuel and rubber.

Stiff penalties are provided for violation of the regulations, fines ranging from $15 to $25, depending upon first or subsequent offences, or imprisonment up to 30 days, or to both fine and imprisonment.

Persons convicted of violating the regulations may also be prohibited from driving a motor vehicle anywhere in Canada for a period not exceeding six months.

The provincial highway traffic board has issued an order which prohibits passenger buses and taxis from being driven at a rate in excess of 40 miles per hour, effective last Friday.

IN MEMORIAM

Red Cross Film Feature on Tour

"There Too, Go I," the Canadian Red Cross film soon to be shown in theatres throughout the Dominion, is much more than an exceptionally good picture of the many phases of Red Cross mercy activities.

It is vitally moving film in which appear her Majesty the Queen; Anna Neagle, the British screen star; child ren being unscathed from the ruins of blitzed homes; Canadian soldiers receiving blood serum shipped from the clinics in Canada; old women and little youngsters sharing the comfort of a life of "bread in jam" waiting underground in an air raid shelter for the "all clear" to sound. All these people come to life before your eyes to tell you how it is, in a world of war and pain and terror, to need the unattached helping hand of the Red Cross.

You exult with the boys in prison camp when the food parcels arrive. You get the feeling of how much more than just parcels they are when they find their way behind the barbed wire fence and are tumbled out for the anxious hands of the soldiers and air-men waiting for them. You realize fully the sturdy link they are between imprisoned men and their people back home.

Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth, charming of manner and speech, commending on the color and warmth and lovely pictures of the quilts spread out for her inspection by Mrs. Stickney, Lord Beaverbrook's sister, at a clothing distribution centre in London, has never been more gracious. Her informal, gentle little speech of "We are deeply grateful for the wonderful work you Canadians are doing" speaks her sympathy and interest in her own people here and abroad.

Gordon Sprotter directed the picture of Canadian and overseas activities at the Associated Screen Studios in Montreal and the Denham Studios in England where Miss Neagle and her director, Herbert Wilcox, donated their services to the making of the picture.

The president and secretary of Har gal Oil Co., Ltd., which company has holdings in this territory, have been looking over their Alberta properties and leases, and gave Wainwright a call last week.

By way of a novelty for the district is the pure white robin (but with the usual red breast) now nesting on the Rattray farm.

This week is "Fire Prevention Week" across the Dominion, and this gives all a good chance to assist the salvage campaign by clearing out all the fire hazards around the place. Clean up the attic, basement, and yards—and take the useful waste to the salvage depot!

80,000 food parcels a week for British prisoners of war in Nazi-held territory is the objective of the Canadian Red Cross this year.

Just a reminder again of the big drive for nine million dollars which the Canadian Red Cross will seek to gather from May 11th to 23rd.

BOARD OF TRADE MONTHLY MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the Wainwright Board of Trade will be a DINNER MEETING at the Wainwright Hotel TONIGHT, WEDNESDAY, at SEVEN P.M. Sharp. All interested are required to be in attendance; there is important business to deal with.

By Order,
L. Baxter, Sec.

Wartime Advertising Declared Essential

Maintenance of identity through advertising "is necessary now more than ever before," says Nathan D. Golden writing in the authoritative "Domestic Commerce" weekly bulletin of the United States department of commerce.

In an important argument for continued advertising in wartime Golden says that this is "especially true for those firms which are partially or temporarily out of the market because of scarcities or conversion of facilities to war production."

"Intelligent advertising tied in with the war effort can maintain the valuable goodwill of the product and keep alive brand names."

The department of commerce expert cites Britain's experience as giving a good example to American manufacturers—experience that applies as well to Canada because the similarity of marketing and advertising policies. He says:

"In England advertising of brand names is continued especially in the heavy durable goods field with a notation that 'these goods are not offered for sale during the war.' Customers here should be kept informed through advertising on the reason for delayed deliveries or failure of deliveries; that conversion has been made for the war effort and that business as usual has been suspended in order to make available certain items which are valuable to the winning of the war."

"In brief, through these turbulent days, more informative advertising should be the order of the day." Golden backs up his argument by reminding the manufacturers and the merchant the people's habits change and they forget how much they desired many things.

"They become rooted in different ways of life," he continues. "Advertising can keep the spark of life in that deferred demand—keep it flickering gently until that day when the United States returns not to normal demand but our usual stimulated demand."

He concludes: "As the war economy matures—40 more of our current life becomes channelled into a definite part in the winning of the war—there will be time to look ahead and explore these possibilities. This may have much to do with establishing advertising policies which will speed up the process of converting the country to post-war plenty by telling and selling the public the real part played by business, just as advertising in the past has speeded up the distribution of products throughout our national economy."

Anglican Churches Hold Bazaar and Tea

A very pleasant afternoon was spent in the St. Thomas' parish hall on Saturday last, when the Women's Auxiliaries of St. Thomas' and St. Margaret's (of Battle Heights), with the Teen-age Girls Club jointly held a bazaar and tea.

The hall was tastefully decorated with pussy willows and Spring flowers—the latter made by the 'teen-age girls.

The tea table, set upon the stage of the hall, was presided over by Mrs. Laseil and Mrs. Pawling, and during the afternoon Mrs. Gray accompanied by Mrs. Clarke at the piano, entertained the patrons with several delightful vocal solo numbers.

The affair was voted a complete success from every standpoint.

St. Thomas' parish hall is the scene of activity each Wednesday evening, when the congregation (all ages) meet together for games, table tennis and bowling, and this is a growing benefit of a friendly, social spirit among the members.

Waste Salvage Drive Meeting With Success

The Wainwright and district salvage drive, under the auspices of the local War Service League, is meeting with great success. The final goal is a campaign and hopes that this goal may be reached within a month have risen high.

The League thanks those who have assisted in any way, especially at the receiving depot.

Although much work has been done, it is left to do to put this salvage drive over the top. The Lush Building on Main Street where the salvage is being stored is open each Wednesday and Saturday afternoon from two to five.

Old cast iron is an urgent requisite for the war effort and those who have old stoves or large pieces of this material are asked to get in touch with Mrs. H. C. Wallace, Mrs. J. G. Mid-dlemas or Mrs. A. Laseil.

This will give some idea of the amount available and when a car is procured it can be collected directly to the car.

Volunteer workers to assist in the work on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons will be greatly appreciated, too.

Sunday next is Mothers' Day all over the continent. Wear a flower in honor of Mother. Red if living; white if not.

Anything Liable To Happen When Britain Uses Rationing

Reading, England.—We have been discussing the new soap rationing—which I, for one, saw coming, a long while ago. I dare say we shall find it adequate, with care—like our other rations; but it certainly does raise thought, especially in such devoted soap-fans as we British. It is smart now to be a bit shabby, but will the day ever come when it is chic to be faintly dingy? I hardly think so.

Of course there is a way of tackling this rationing business when you know how. Remembering shortages of this and that, last time, I laid in a small stock a couple of years ago. It is quite possible to do that without "hoarding," and then when rationing eventually comes, it eases the strain.

Our island situation makes the position peculiar, naturally, but any country at war, one imagines might feel after a time, a shortage of those things—especially metals and fatty substances. Such commodities have a way of suddenly getting expensive or disappearing altogether. One walks into a store some morning asking for safety-pins for instance to be met with blank looks or spoilties.

Then there are screws, nails and thumb tacks; all liable to disappear. A spare box of these bits and pieces put away somewhere on a shelf, saves endless worry later on. The blackout for one thing, simply eats up certain things, and thumb-tacks, so, if rationing, to any extent, is coming your way over there you might find the hint useful.

Last night I met a charming (but temporarily bewildered) friend who had made a date with me for the purpose of getting a spot of laundry done for me. I turned up at the rendezvous with a nasty looking newspaper parcel containing a blanket and sheet—it having become quite impossible to locate a laundry—and found her pondering deeply on some thing she had seen. An old lady, she explained walking up the hill in front of her towards the public shelter, with a gas-mask in one hand and a large alarm-clock dangling from a finger of the other, and all at times. For her comfort I explained that there had been a warning note just about that time, so the old dear very probably, was off to take up her duties as a shelter warden. (But why the alarm-clock?) The warning after all, was judged to be a mistake, somebody, probably, pushed a knob or pulled a handle about-minded, for most of the people heard nothing at all—including my friend. When I explained to her what had happened she was extremely disturbed, and convinced that she ought to patter all the way back to that shelter and tell the poor old dear—who is probably still nestling in there with her mysterious clock, waiting for the "All Clear."

I have now taken up another queer activity which keeps my harassed brain busy. Well, it is a bit more glib to the mill, and harmless enough in all conscience. Every week now I turn out some stuff which is published to amuse the kiddies. It seems that it is still needed, so somebody must do it. Newspaper space, in these days, is very restricted, but most of the provincial publications still keep a corner for the children and there I burst out into crosswords, puzzles, articles and rhyme.

I have never done work for children before, but there have been no complaints up to date! The rule is: "nothing about the war." Not an easy motto, as you can imagine, but somehow one manages to keep to it. I suppose the poor little things—to do nothing of their parents' are glad to get away from war for awhile now and then.

My friends, who are usually regarded as grown-up and responsible individuals, display a constant and fervent desire to know what is going on in this line; so maybe the children don't mind. One thing has always noticed and that is that the average nice child is really very polite and indulgent towards the strange whimsies which seem to amuse its elders. So my evenings, nowadays are given up to this odd occupation, and all sorts of people dig down into their childhood memories to supply me with games and puzzles if I am feeling stumped. The general notion is that if it's for the kids it's worth while—and that is quite right. We've got to do all we can to keep them healthy and normal and safe, considering that they'll still be a going concern when we're out of the running for good. Even the folk who don't really care much for children—preferring the company of the more mature human as some do—must see the solid common sense of this. Those silly and over-sentimental parents who've dragged their kids back to big, dangerous cities are just trying to commit national suicide for the sake of their own small personal feelings or prejudices. You should have heard our friend the doctor on the subject!

LLOYDMINSTER BIG BULL SALE, MAY 26th.

Well known Breeders of pure bred cattle have entered 80 Shorthorn and Hereford bulls for the 23rd, annual Interprovincial Show and sale of pure bred bulls, to be held on Tuesday May 26th. A few head of Hereford females will also be sold. All animals will be tested for tuberculosis.

Livestock men agree that the increased demand for more and better beef is creating a demand for good sires which will soon exceed the supply. It would therefore be wise to attend this sale the last opportunity this season to select a sire at a recognized sale.

A catalogue listing the animals entered can be secured by writing G. M. Cook, Manager, Lloydminster Exhibition Association.

FORTY TOP SPEED NOW

The new federal speed limit of 40 miles an hour on all roads is in effect today. Forty is the top speed permitted. No compulsion exists to travel at 40 miles an hour all the time. Lower speeds will be encouraged.

Another point to notice is that the new federal limit does not supersede any local regulations. Alberta has no general highway speed limit beyond a "safe" speed. But both the province and municipalities specify considerably lower speeds under certain circumstances and at certain places. These low speed regulations still are effective.

At speeds under 40 miles an hour the motorist—and this includes drivers of trucks, buses and taxis—save both gasoline and tires. This alone should be incentive enough for a rigorous observance of the new speed law.—Ed.

RED CROSS

WORTHY OF AID
Starting May 11th, the Canadian Red Cross Society will ask the people of the Dominion to subscribe $9,000, 000 to finance the work of the Society.

The money will be used for food parcels for Canadian and British prisoners of war in Germany and Italy; comforts for the armed forces; Navy Merchant Marine, air raid sufferers, and hospital and medical supplies; disaster and emergency, including assistance to Allied Red Cross Societies, and Blood Donor Service. All are vital functions of the Canadian Red Cross—each in itself plays an important part in the structure of this great service for suffering humanity.

As the war spreads throughout the world the tasks of relief assigned to the Society increase until today there is no sphere of war activity that is not benefiting from the good works of this great organization.

VALUE OF PAINT BRUSHES

Paint brushes that have accumulated over the years in many households may be more valuable now than when they were first bought. The sources of supply of the finest brushes—China, Japan and Siberia, are no longer open, while the need for these brushes is stepped up in industries supplying the needs of the Navy Army and Air Force.

Conserve brushes by eliminating the possibility of them becoming hardened and caked with paint. Immediately after completing the paint job remove as much paint as possible by brushing out on an absorbent surface. Rub the brush in paint thinner, wipe dry, and scrub thoroughly with warm water and soap. Rinse thoroughly until all traces of soap are removed. Straighten out the bristles by combing with an ordinary comb. Finally, wrap the brushes in paper and fasten with a cord tied around the ferrule. The brush will then be in good condition when it is required for the next job.

If the brush is to be used on two or three successive days, it may be kept overnight with the bristles immersed in paint thinner, preferably painter's benzine.

Old brushes which have become hardened may be reclaimed by soaking the brush in a paint brush cleaner or according to direction on the pack. Soaking for 24 hours in a lacquer thinner is excellent but this substance is no longer available for civilian use.

After using the paint brush cleaner gently remove paint still adhering to the brush with a dull knife or comb. Finally the brush should be scrubbed with soap and water and rinsed thoroughly.

The Canadian Red Cross is asked for help of all kinds. One of the Williams, a seven-year-old, Old Briton, asked them to find his finger-colored rabbit named "Rupert." They did.

World of Wheat

H. G. L. Strange,
Director, Research Department,
Searle Grain Company, Ltd.

News from Britain tells us that meat is becoming so scarce that the present ration, which is no more than one pound for each person each week may have to be further reduced.

There is, of course, not a single person in Canada who would not like to share some of the bountiful supplies we now enjoy of meats and other animal products such as bacon, cheese, eggs, butter and milk, with our British friends who are our most valiant comrades-in-arms.

Fortunately there is an easy method by which we can share to some extent. We can eat less of these precious foods ourselves and so release more to be sent to Britain. We can do this by consuming more vegetables. Indeed nutritionists tell us that we eat nothing like enough for our own good health of the wonderful vegetables that our prairies can grow.

Every farmer, therefore, should certainly put in a vegetable garden this spring, both to help Britain and for his family's sake. Green-stuffs, such as broccoli, mustard and cress, Brussels sprouts, spinach, lettuce and cauliflower, should be included in the garden, for these leafy vegetables it is now found have a high content of those most precious "A" and "C" health-bringing vitamins.

SPRINGTIME BEAUTY

Now is the time to freshen up your skin, for the wintry weather and stuffy, overheated homes have undoubtedly left their mark on your face, despite all your care.

Do some limbering up exercises daily. Besides making your body more supple, exercises will stimulate the circulation. Then pay attention to the normal functioning of your body. "An apple a day" is still good and if I add "onion twice a week" it is because this is excellent advice.

That's looking after the "inner woman," for you cannot look healthy if you're not feeling up to the mark. Now for the exterior. The face and neck should be creamed daily with Three-Purpose cream, a lovely cream that cleanses thoroughly, then acts as a foundation for powder, and can be used at bedtime as a massage cream.

Of course you must keep your skin immaculately clean. The best way to ensure this is to wash regularly with warm water and soothing palmolive soap; the skin beautifier. Rinse with cold water — as cold as you can stand it.

Have a face mask once a week for a while. Take two tablespoons of cooked oatmeal, four tablespoons of glycerine and two tablespoons of rose water. Mix to a thin paste and apply to the face and neck evenly with an up and out stroke. Allow to harden. When thoroughly dry, rinse off with lukewarm water.

Send four one-cent stamps for my booklet on Beauty Care, which will help you solve most of your beauty problems. Address: Miss Barbara Lynn, Box 76, Station B, Montreal, Que.

According to the Canada Gazette, the King's birthday will be celebrated on June 8th again this year, instead of the actual date — December 14th.

They're easy treats, too, if you make them with sweetened condensed milk, for it combines like magic with the fruit or other flavor ingredient. All you have to do is to spread the filling between the cookies put the resulting "cake" away in the refrigerator, and go about the day's activities without further refrigeration until later in the day or until next for dessert.

course will be carefully watched with this in mind. Mothers realize that milk is important for their children—and a valuable food for adults too. From now on, milk dishes will be in the second place, particularly in those homes where the children refuse to drink their milk plain.

FEEDING WHEAT.

BARLEY AND OATS
TO BACON HOGS

Barley and oats are the grains most commonly used for swine, but large stocks and low market values have in recent years served to increase the use of wheat for this purpose. During the present year approximately one hundred million bushels of grain will be utilized as hog feed in Western Canada. A part of this supply will come from storage stocks and part will be grown in 1942. In selecting the crops to grow for feeding swine, the number of pounds of bacon that can be produced with the grain harvested from each acre should receive careful consideration. Obtaining the maximum returns from land utilized for growing feed grains is an important step toward reducing the cost of bacon hog production, states R. M. Hopper, Dominion Experimental Farm, Brandon.

In Western Canada, the average grain yields per acre during the three-year period from 1938 to 1940 were: Wheat seventeen bushels, Barley twenty-two bushels, and Oats twenty-eight bushels. Only a portion of any feed is capable of being digested by animals and when this digestible portion of each of the three grains is considered, the yields are 926 pounds of digestible feed per acre of wheat, 893 pounds per acre of barley, and 872 pounds per acre of oats. The relative values of the three commonly grown grains for feeding bacon hogs were compared in a series of feeding tests at the Experimental Farm, Brandon, in 1940. The results to date show that wheat is superior to barley from the standpoint of rate of gain and also from the standpoint of the amount of feed required to produce a pound of grain. One hundred pounds of wheat was found to be equivalent to 111 pounds of barley. Oats is definitely inferior to either wheat or barley as a hog feed. Tests of feed mixtures containing different proportions of barley and oats and of wheat and oats showed the rate of gain to increase as the amount of oats in the mixture was decreased and that the amount of feed required to produce a pound of gain increased as the amount of oats in the mixture was increased.

The results showed there was an increased danger of over finishing market hogs with too much wheat than when similar proportions of barley were used. The danger of over finishing can be largely prevented by feeding a mixture of the grains and including a protein supplement such as milk, lanthane, or one of the commercial concentrates with the mixture. The pigs in the feeding test were fed inside and received a tablespoonful of pickardene oil daily until they reached a weight of 110 pounds.

Factors such as the suitability of the land for the production of a certain crop, and the urgency of drought resistance must be taken into consideration in planning crops of feed grain, but from the standpoint of yield per acre, as well as the suitability of the grain for feeding bacon

HEALTH

A HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION AND LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES

"Government departments can and do assist in large measure in attaining this object, by means of research carried out by scientists and by providing hospitals and clinics," the Governor-General has pointed out. "But without the additional help of the individual, your help and my help it is absolutely impossible to obtain really successful results."

The Governor-General pointed out that where remedies existed for disease and where they were available, the responsibility rests with the parents for their proper use.

"It is for this reason that I am happy to have been given this opportunity of introducing Toxoid Week. To many of you Toxoid Week may not mean very much but I can assure you that it is of interest to all of you. It is of vital interest to parents of all young children. Let me explain briefly what it all means. One of the most dangerous diseases with which we have had to deal is diphtheria. Last year there were as many as 849 cases of diphtheria in Canada. No less than 160 of these cases ended fatally in the first six months. Now diphtheria is an avoidable disease. If every child were immunized with injection of toxoid, which is a harmless product, diphtheria would be rapidly stamped out."

"The support of this statement I will cite just one example," His Excellency declared. "There is one city in Canada with a population of nearly 700,000. In 1939, when its population was only 177,000, there were 147 deaths from diphtheria. If the rate had continued, there would now be an annual death toll of over 700 due to diphtheria. But by 1940 toxoid had been discovered, and as a result of its application the occurrence and mortality of diphtheria had been so reduced that in that year there was not a single case of diphtheria in the hogs, the land to be used for feed grain production should be largely utilized for growing barley and wheat. In the interests of economical bacon production the growing of oats should be limited to the needs of brood sows and the ration for newly weaned and growing pigs.

whole city. Now that is an amazing achievement. It was the result of a vigorous campaign by the public health authorities intended to bring home to parents, teachers and others the vital importance of having the children under their care inoculated with toxoid."

"What can be done in the mixed population of a great city can be done throughout the Dominion," continued the Governor-General, "so that in a short time diphtheria could be totally eliminated from among our people. It is not merely a question of providing facilities for inoculation and spreading publicity on its benefits. It is essential that all those who have the care of young people should respond and avail themselves of the arrangements which health authorities will make for the free inoculation of toxoid. This least we can do to safeguard them from the preventable hazards which surround them in their early years. Diphtheria is one of those hazards, but fortunately we possess a weapon which can utterly destroy it. Diphtheria is a disease that strikes hard when it strikes. Let us use this weapon which science has put in our hands to strike back harder still, ruthlessly and immediately and continuously so that the people of the future will be freed from the menace of this foul disease."

"I ask you to give this matter your most urgent attention in the interests of your fellow countrymen and of the future welfare of Canada," the Governor-General concluded.

ANSWERING FOUR QUESTIONS
MOST OFTEN ASKED ABOUT
CONDITIONS IN BRITAIN

(Written exclusively for the weekly newspapers of Canada by Hugh Temple, of the Fergus News-Recorder.)

Perhaps I should take time this week to answer the questions most often asked me since I came back to Canada. I shall not attempt to answer them all, of course, but only four of those which seem the most important and which are most frequently asked.

WHAT CHANGES IS THE WAR
MAKING IN GREAT BRITAIN

This was my first visit to England and therefore I cannot answer from my own experience, but among my fellow travellers were several who had been born in the British Isles, or had visited them on several occasions. During my stay in England, I met people of all classes. My hosts included titled persons of various degrees of prominence and rank. I travelled by myself when time permitted and met and talked with people of all classes. I wandered away from the group to talk to people who were working in their gardens to the men and women running machinery in the factories. I met many former Canadians now living in England.

It seems to be unanimously agreed that the changes in Britain have already been great; that more are still to come, and that things can never be the same again as they were before the war began.

A great levelling process is taking place. Money is of little use if it cannot buy luxuries. Rationing applies to all. No matter how many suits of clothes a man had before the war, he can buy only the same number now as the humblest laborer. True, the quality will be better, but even that distinction tends to disappear.

During more than three weeks in London, I saw only two young men dressed in formal evening clothes, not counting the waiters in the hotel. These two were in an underground station and they were drunk. They were pointed out to me as a bad example by a constable. Yet in the days before the war, a Canadian cabinet minister was refused admission to the dining room in the hotel where I stayed because he was not in evening clothes.

An incident happened during my stay in Britain that shows the Germans have no idea what a change they have wrought in England. One night, they dropped a spy by parachute. Evidently, he expected to move in society. He was dressed in tails and his outfit was complete even to white spats. The outfit marked him at once, and he had the further misfortune to drop in a mud puddle before he had time to hide the small wireless transmitter he carried. His clothes cost him his life.

Even then, pleasure travel in automobiles was limited to the distance one could go on three gallons a month. Since then, it has been prohibited. While I was in England, the distinction between first and third classes for railways travel was abolished and there is now only one class.

Rich and poor suffered alike in the bombing. That, perhaps, did more to break down distinctions than anything else. Everyone physically able to do so must take a turn at fire-warding.

It is said that income and other taxes amount almost to conscription of wealth. I cannot say whether that is true, but it is obvious that wealth can no longer obtain many luxuries and a great levelling process has been taking place. And I did not hear any complaints about it.

This question can be answered without hesitation. I do not see how rationing restrictions could be more fairly applied. There are a few loopholes, but these are not important. An honest effort is made to see that everyone gets equal privileges.

Food allowances of all rationed staple foods are alike for rich and poor. No amount of influence can get any more. The British people are obviously not starving, but I do not think they really get enough to eat. At least, a Canadian feels the sudden change in diet.

Take butter, for instance. No matter where one eats, the allowance is the same, two ounces a week. That allows a slice about the size and thickness of a quarter for each meal. It will not butter half a roll. On Sunday morning, I showed the family the butter allowance for one meal. I used six of them, or two days' ration, on one slice of hot toast.

It is hard to find anything for breakfast in Britain. I never ate an egg while I was there. (The ration is two eggs a month per person in the London district.) In fact, I saw only one person eating an egg in almost a month. There are no packaged Meat is severely rationed. The allowance is limited by the price paid, one shilling and tuppence, a week per person. That would mean a roast on Sunday and shepherd's pie once or twice on following days. There are two exceptions. Game and oysters are not rationed. At the hotels one ate unrationed meat—venison, rabbit pie, grouse, chicken, guinea fowl—or such things as tripe, sweetbreads and headcheese. English sausages are amazing things. They look like sausages but taste like nothing on earth.

Bread and vegetables were not rationed. With so many growing their own vegetables last year, and with a sale once. They were for children only. Stores were busy but I never saw a queue lined up to buy food, although there were line-ups in the early mornings where cigarettes were sold, three to a customer.

Perhaps this is a subject that I should not discuss. It seems to be a ticklish matter. "One" of the editors on the trip wrote about it in a woman's magazine and created quite a stir. I had an item in my own paper on the subject, and today received a red-hot letter from some Toronto woman who says I should be writing for D.M.B. She is quite rude in her remarks, not only about me but also about Canadian girls.

Yet the subject is one of interest and I don't see why it should be kept secret. Canada has sent some two hundred thousand of her young men over the ocean. Every one that marries in Britain will not be free to marry a Canadian girl if he returns.

Many Canadian soldiers are marrying English girls. Some are marrying Scottish girls. The commanding officers of one Ontario Battalion told me that over one hundred of his boys had married since reaching England. This officer had no objection. The soldiers could not marry without his permission. He said they were invariably fine types of girls, who would be a credit to Canada after the war.

I do not think the proportion of Air Force men getting married overseas is large.

The reason seems obvious. The Air Force is continually in action. There is nothing monotonous about life in the bomber or fighter squadrons.

For the Canadian girl who has sent her soldier overseas, there seems to be but one precaution to take—send a continuous stream of letters, mixed occasionally with boxes and photographs. And letters are more important than boxes.

You'll be glad you gave to the Red Cross

One of these days bombs may come crashing down in your neighborhood. Your house may be left in ruins. Your child may be crying feebly for help. Your friends, your family, may be left homeless.

No matter what happens, you'll never regret that you gave to the Red Cross. Reach out the hand of mercy to help those crushed by grief and pain. You will not turn a deaf ear to the cry of the injured and the suffering.

The Canadian Red Cross is just your heart with other Canadian hearts beating in compassion for suffering humanity. YOU want to be a part of this great mission of mercy. You will give to your Red Cross. Open your heart and purse strings—GIVE generously.

PAY TWO DOLLARS FOR TWO DOLLARS

Doesn't sound reasonable, does it? And still it's being done.

An account of $2.00 is owing to a firm. Notice is sent that it is due. No reply. Next month the account is rendered again. The account has already cost the firm 20 cents in collections and is still not paid.

It is conservatively estimated that the cost of rendering an account each time is 10 cents. If the management is lax the account may be rendered again and again without a reply.

One of the greatest arguments for cash business on small accounts is the neglect which the average debtor accords them and the annoyance and expense they cause the creditor.

Newspaper subscriptions are on a paid-in-advance basis because of all the many, easy, small accounts to forget, the weekly newspaper subscription heads the list.

LOOK AT THE LABEL on your paper, it carries the date on which your subscription expires and is a constant reminder to remit promptly, by that date.

This district was saddened by the loss of a good friend and neighbor when Mr. Geo. Ross met his death in a fire which destroyed his barn last week. Our sincere sympathies are extended to Mrs. Ross and other relatives.

Miss Mae Peacock, nurse-in-training at University Hospital, Edmonton arrived home last Saturday to spend a three weeks holiday with her folks on the farm. Miss Doris Peacock was home for the week end.

The drilling of a test hole for oil on the Len Minter place is nearing completion.

We note that Mrs. Gustafson is now driving the car she acquired during the winter.

The seeding of wheat is now in full blast, however, moisture is badly needed at time of writing, if good growth is to be expected.

Mr. Jack Vetch and the boys have been breaking some frisky colts recently.

We wonder if Mr. Andy Gawley is having any luck getting those pesky magpies. Good hunting, Andy.

Sheepskin Flats

Miss Irene Wilson visited over the week end with her parents at Triangle.

Mr. Lloyd Myer spent the week with Mr. C. Templeton.

Mr. George Noakes is busy these days dishing for Mr. J. Wilkinson.

Seeding is now in full swing in the Flats and we all hope for good crops.

MASCOT

People talk about saving gas but the Mascot teacher and school children certainly did because they all rode saddle horses up to Paxtonville school to play softball. Paxtonville defeated Mascot 19 to 17.

We were very sorry to hear that Mrs. J. Denoncourt has been on the sick list and had to spend a few days in the hospital. We hope she is feeling better now.

We heartily agree with White Cloud in respect to a restroom in Wainwright for the out-of-town folks. We certainly would appreciate it.

I certainly believe we go to town often enough and spend enough money in town to deserve a restroom.

We are very sorry to hear that Mrs. R. Peplin is in the hospital, and wish her a speedy recovery.

AMONG THE OLD TIMERS

REMINERS OF OTHER DAYS

TEN YEARS AGO

Having received great relief from hospital services Master Joe Collect who recently sustained a fracture of the neck has now left that institution. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brunker left this week for the coast where they plan to make their home in the future.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brunker accompanied by Mr. Harvey Ward motored to Edmonton on Monday to see the big basketball game with the Grads in action.

There was a good turnout to vote here last Monday and a really good "Yes" vote was recorded.

Cliff Tunney was the lucky guesser of the number of No votes in the gamble in town—14 being the number.

We are glad to see Lawrence Eckland has returned from the hospital and is back at work at the Creamery.

The concert and play staged in the Hall Wednesday under the auspices of St. Mary's W. A. turned out to be a real success. The whole of the varied programme being well received. The Junior W. The drill put on by the little ones of the primary room was very effective.

There was a fire alarm last Friday when the chimney at the Christensen shack caught fire. Except for the prompt action of the Fire Department there might have been one less building in town.

"Hitler would just love to see how smart you look!"

"Yes, you're smart... or are you? I thought I was smart too, back in the 20's. Then the depression came and taught me a lesson!"

"We'd be a lot smarter if we put less of our money into our own outfits and more of it into the outfits of the boys who are defending us. How? By pledging ourselves to do without so that they may have plenty to do with!"

"You want them to win, don't you? Well then, buy War Savings Stamps every week... That's how you can help them. Besides, by saving, you'll help keep prices down and have something for a rainy day. Let's be really smart!"

Buy War Savings Stamps from banks, post offices, drugists, grocers and other retail stores.
